Queens, NY

Tangram House South is located in the Flushing neighborhood of Queens, New York. It has 192 units throughout its 12 stories, along with many amenities for its residents – including a landscaped rooftop garden, a fitness center, and more. The building has a façade with a unique monochromatic look that is made up of 3 different porcelain panel designs – metallic Ferroker Niquel, bright Extreme White, and Deep Light Grey. The porcelain façade blends in with the existing brick building base and is accented with many glass windows and balconies.
